SYNOPSIS |

In a town where people are missing, and desires turn into disaster, the mystery to what's behind it all has uncovered the dark truth. That is that love can kill and more than once. In "DUNGEON" we follow the journey of Hoboken real estate broker Richard Gates (Andy Bowles) as he finds himself a victim of an unusual circumstance involving Kate (Faith Stanek) the only tenant of the newest building on the market. Frightened and scared he fights for his life all while his loving Grandma (Sheilagh Weymouth) and Hoboken's overworked Detective Marsh (Victoria Meade) search for clues hoping to find him. In doing so Detective Marsh gains a lead to the whereabouts of a case that has gone cold involving missing person James Madison (Sheldon J. Nicholas Jr.). APB Productions presents an Andy Bowles film "DUNGEON".

DIRECTOR'S STATEMENT

“
Dungeon is a fun light hearted suspense thriller.”

Dungeon is a fun light hearted suspense thriller. A story about a real estate agent taken prisoner by deranged tenant of his newest listing. The slapstick style drama is not only entertaining at moments it is funny. During casting the characters were open to any gender and the roles were cast to whomever had the greatest auditions. Many male written characters went to female performers. Creating an entirely different dynamic on screen compared to the screenplay. All the actors in Dungeon are truly talented and I am lucky to have gotten to work with them. The crew are some of the hardest and most creative individuals and I am grateful for all their hard work and creativity. Dungeon is a film I am proud of and is my greatest work to date.
